

Lillie Knauls

Funny now, as I look back, I remember saying that I would never have a computer. Folks couldn't believe that I didn't, but I felt I was getting older and it was too much for me to learn! Finally after years of dragging my feet I knew that I had to come into the 21st century. I went to Walmart, purchased a laptop—and the rest is history! Of course, now I cannot imagine life without it. I love getting emails, but not as much as I enjoy speaking with folks directly. (That I do miss.)

I do not turn on my computer until after I have had Bible devotions and done everything else I must do around the house. So around noon, or even later, I will turn it on, answer emails, write letters, and do all the things I need to do.

Homecoming Magazine July/August 2014